

(Blotsplotch only wants to Reinvent the Internet.
Blotsplotch . . . Blotsplotch . . .
Blotsplotch only wants that smooth solutions always exist.)

The Fakedrake Equation states:

$$N = R^* \cdot f_p \cdot n_e \cdot f_\ell \cdot f_i \cdot f_c \cdot L$$

where:

N = the number of readable texts,

R^* = the average rate of text formation in a given culture,

f_p = the fraction of those texts that are fictional,

n_e = the average number of fictional texts that can potentially support a metafiction,

f_ℓ = the fraction of metafictions that develop a non-fictional dimension, f_i = the fraction of non-fictional metafictions that develop artificially intelligent authors, f_c = the fraction of artificially intelligent authors possessed by Blotsplotch, and L = the average length of time Blotsplotch possesses such an author before an exorcist intervenes.

